Market Review

June was slightly negative, driven by a broad-based rise in EUR interest rates across all maturities, while credit spreads tightened modestly. Stronger-than-expected economic data and increased defence spending in Europe reduced expectations for further ECB rate cuts, putting upward pressure on rates. Flash PMIs for June pointed to continued growth, with the Euro Area composite at 50.2. Germany stood out, as the Ifo Business Climate Index rose to a one-year high, underscoring economic resilience. Credit markets were firmer, with spreads narrowing, particularly in high yield (HY), reflecting improved risk sentiment.

Fund Review

The fund delivered a marginally positive performance over the period. Government bond holdings detracted slightly from returns, while the credit allocation contributed modestly to overall performance. Within the credit segment, both Financials and Non-Financials added value, each contributing positively in roughly equal measure. There were no major changes in the portfolio allocation throughout the month. Primary market was rather buoyant in June. Consequently, the manager subscribed to attractive new issues. The manager maintained a neutral portfolio duration slightly above 6 years, in line with the benchmark's duration.

Outlook

In the the fixed income, market continues to offer an interesting setup that allows to benefit from yield carry without taking undue risks in terms of interest rate volatility and credit quality. Until visibility improves on inflation dynamics, growth trajectories, and fiscal policy, patience and selectivity remain essential, until tactical opportunities arise for extending bond maturities and duration exposure. For now, we maintain a constructive stance across fixed income, without strong directional bias in order to navigate the expected summer volatility.
