Investment objective

The objective of this Fund is to provide its investors with long term capital growth, principally by investing in equities and equity related securities globally. Such securities will generally be listed or traded on developed market countries and, to a limited extent, in emerging markets. The Fund's portfolio will invest primarily in mid to large capitalisation companies but will also invest in small capitalisation companies. The Fund will typically invest in 20 to 35 companies but may exceed this number depending on market conditions, with a maximum of 50 positions. The Sub-Manager looks for "under-recognized change" opportunities and focuses its research effort on fundamental bottom-up analysis of companies undergoing significant changes, which it believes to be undervalued or underappreciated by the markets. The Fund promotes environmental and/or social characteristics according to article 8 of the SFDR but does not have sustainable investment as its objective.

Fund manager Comment

Highlights

-US equity markets continued to recover from their pullback in early April while there was more modest stock market performance elsewhere. The Fund underperformed its benchmark in June. The positive contribution from Health Care and Financials was not sufficient to offset the drag from other sectors including Industrials and IT. The best-performing positions included STMicroelectronics, TSMC and Nucor; while Suzuki, Alimentation Couche-Tard and Vestas were the largest stock-level detractors.

Market Review

The US equity market continued its recovery and reached new highs, while looking past tensions in the Middle East that created volatility in the oil price, and in anticipating the potential impacts on tax and debt from the US government's proposed reconciliation bill. Performance in other markets was less pronounced in local currencies but the continued weakening of the US dollar vs the euro and British pound saw these markets also grow in dollar terms.

Fund Review

The Fund underperformed its benchmark during the month. The Fund's underweight to and selection within the US market were a drag, alongside positions in Industrials and Information Technology. These were somewhat offset by positive contributions from Healthcare and Financials. The biggest positive contributor to performance was STMicroelectronics, followed by the portfolio's other semiconductor manufacturer TSMC. STMicroelectronics benefitted from news of lower inventories of microcontroller units and industrial semiconductors in China suggesting a restocking and stronger demand in the second half of the year. TSMC benefited from renewed optimism towards Gen AI following NVIDIA reporting stronger than anticipated demand. US steel producer, Nucor, also had a strong performance as it benefitted from increased tariffs on foreign competition and as guided to above consensus second quarter EPS driven by higher raw steel prices. The biggest drag to the Fund came from the car manufacturer, Suzuki, likely due to temporary production constraints due to rare earth supply and due to slower demand in the Indian market. Alimentation Couche-Tard also dragged which we believe was due to the weak dollar and expectations of continuing US consumer spending softness at its gasoline forecourts. Wind turbine producer Vestas added a drag on the last day of the month when new wording was proposed for the US Senate's reconciliation bill that could reduce the duration of renewable tax credits. The Fund recorded one new addition and there were no disposals.

Outlook

As always, we continue to focus on finding mispriced shares of companies undergoing positive under-recognised change. We target at least 50% absolute return on a 2-3-year view. Our stock selection is driven by bottom-up stock analysis rather than macroeconomic projections. The Fund is currently underweight US names and any further normalisation in the premium paid for US stocks should result in positive performance relative to the benchmark, all else being equal.
