Investment objective

The objective of this Fund is to provide investors with an absolute return which has limited correlation with the trend of the main stocks or bonds markets indices by investing mainly in UCITS, UCITS eligible exchange traded funds, money market funds and/or other UCIs. The weighting between these instruments will be determined by the Manager according to its personal assessment of the market trends. The Fund may also be exposed to commodities, including gold and precious metals. This exposure shall only be achieved by means of eligible instruments and shall be limited to a maximum of 10% of the Fund's net assets. To allocate the exposure on the various categories of asset classes and build up a global conservative portfolio, the Manager uses, in particular, macro-economic cycle analysis, asset valuation and risk and correlation analysis. Fundamental top-down analysis will evolve through time. It may include paying attention to, without being limited to, global yield curves, markets valuations, profits cycle analysis, earnings expectations, credit spreads, investor sentiment and other factors. The Fund is subject to ongoing monitoring to ensure that risk parameters and market exposures consistent with investment views are maintained. The Fund may also invest in exchange traded financial derivative instruments (including options and futures) in order to manage its portfolio efficiently and to protect its assets and liabilities. The Fund is actively managed not in reference to a benchmark.

Market Review

The rally in risk assets stalled in November, with growth focused equities falling on increased concerns over spending and profitability in Artificial Intelligence. Despite a strong Q3 earnings season, U.S. Equities (S&P 500 TR) fell 0.3% in November, with growth focused companies (Russell 1000 Growth TR) falling -2.2%, somewhat offset by their value focused peers (Russell 1000 Value) which were up +2.0%. Global equities (MSCI ACWI NTR USD Index) were also down -0.4%, with returns in Emerging Markets (MSCI Emerging NTR USD Index) also negatively affected by the change in investor sentiment, falling -2.3%. Fund Review

The 'I' USD share class of the fund returned +0.5% in USD terms in November, with positive returns from our liquid alternatives and core investment grade credit offsetting weakness in some of our growth equity and high yield credit holdings. Equity markets were volatile in November, with concerns surrounding the spending and profitability of Artificial Intelligence weighing on equity returns. Our equity holdings were mixed, with returns ranging between -3.8% for our global growth focused holdings and +1.4% from our value focused manager, illustrating the pullback in more speculative investments. Fixed income returns were also driven by the market's 'risk off' stance, with our investment grade holdings up between 0.4% and 0.6%; offset by our high yield holdings which showed mixed results of -0.3% and +0.1%respectively. Our liquid alternatives holdings were again the largest gainers on the month, led by our Gold position which gained 5.7% in November, with the precious metal almost 60% this year. Our positions in managed futures also continued to add value, finishing November up 1.2%. Our asset allocation remained steady throughout the month, and currently sits unchanged at 52% Bonds & cash, 27% Equities and 21% Liquid Alternatives and Gold.

Outlook

Global markets have surprised in 2025, with equity returns surpassing most analyst expectations at the beginning of the year. As we enter December the macro picture remains uncertain; the tailwinds of strong fiscal stimulus and corporate earnings are offset by high valuations, slowing economies and persistent inflation. Our solution to this environment is a combination of quality equities, higher-coupon fixed income, and uncorrelated liquid alternatives. While not immune to market volatility, we believe this combination will provide a strong solution for our investors.
